REASONS FOR STUDENTS TO EXTEND THEIR WESTLAW NEXT PASSWORD FOR THE SUMMER:

- Summer law school classes and study abroad programs
- Other educational uses including
  - Law review and journal, including write-on competitions
  - Research assistant
  - Moot court
  - Unpaid internship/externship

Why it’s important to use a firm password for firm work this summer:
Thomson Reuters has heard from several law firms and was told that using a firm’s password for firm work is in a student’s best interest. This is for a number of reasons, including:

- Practice Ready – An important function of any summer position is for the student to become a practice-ready member of a law firm. This involves understanding the resources and best practices of their employer – including being able to conduct research within the bounds of the firm’s WestlawNext® plan.
- Folders – If a student uses their student password, any research saved to a folder will not be shareable to the member of the firm. Using a firm password allows folders to be shared.
- Billing – Student passwords are set up differently from firm passwords. With law student passwords, client IDs are not requested at the start of a research project, as they are with firm passwords. Keeping track of billable research is an essential skill – one that can’t be practiced when using a student password.
- Confidentiality – Client confidentiality is a hallmark of the legal profession. Research conducted on a firm’s password is more easily kept confidential. Research conducted on a student password is more difficult to keep confidential.
