Readings in the course will include court opinions and articles from and about attorney disciplinary proceedings and articles addressing attorneys' choices that lead to unethical conduct. Using class discussion, course readings, and their own research, students will produce written work analyzing the impact of lawyer misconduct on the profession and society. This two-credit course will fulfill the upper level writing requirement.

Pre-requisite: Professional Responsibility

LAW 7041: SEMINAR: VETERANS BENEFITS LAW (2 CREDITS)

This seminar course provides students with an in-depth understanding of veterans' benefits law. Students will learn about the structure, history, laws, and policies that form the basis of the veterans' benefits system in the United States. The course will use a combination of traditional and experiential teaching methods to help students understand relevant statutory and regulatory provisions and key case law. Additionally, this course will help students develop the skills necessary for effective advocacy on behalf of veterans.

LAW 881: SPORTS & ENTERTAINMENT LAW (2 CREDITS)

The sports law portion of this course will provide students with a comprehensive understanding of the role of a sports agent/attorney for a professional athlete or a college athlete looking to market and commercialize their name, image and likeness. This includes the issues an agent/attorney faces when helping a college athlete pursue a professional career and the agent's fiduciary duty to the client. Other critical aspects of the representation industry, including the application of intellectual property law, labor law and contract law, will be discussed with practical examples such as negotiating player contracts and endorsement and marketing agreements.

The entertainment law portion of this course will identify and explore key legal principles and contractual relationships within the television and film industries. By using the text, cases, guest speakers, and video clips, students will gain a legal and practical understanding of key subjects in the industry, including idea protection, defamation, privacy, the right of publicity, trademark and copyright. In addition, students will be taught how to negotiate manager and personal representation agreements as well as other critical film and television agreements, including literary option/purchase agreements, shopping agreements, life rights agreements, and talent employment agreements while at the same time gaining practical knowledge as to how the industry functions. The course will also explore independent film finance and distribution deals.

LAW 800: STATE ADMINISTRATIVE LAW (2 CREDITS)

This course examines the practice of administrative law in the states with particular emphasis on Pennsylvania. Building on the foundation of the first-year federal administrative law course, State

Administrative Law has two objectives. One goal is to help students develop a pragmatic orientation in preparation for the practice of state administrative law. The second objective of the course is to examine differences between state and federal administrative law. First, state procedural due process and separation of powers law are different, and frequently litigated. Second, the text of the Pennsylvania constitution itself is unique, which has led to variations from federal administrative law. Third, Pennsylvania has its own statutory administrative code, which is different from the federal Administrative Procedure Act. Fourth, some areas of administrative law are more pervasive in the states. For example, licensing application, renewal, suspension and revocation practice and procedure are major parts of state law. The course will examine all of these areas at length.

Pre-requisite: Administrative Law
